VOL. XIII. NO. 42.

GREENVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1911.

50c. PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE

FINAFORE FOR YOUNG GIRL

Style That Will Find More Favor Among Girls of Ten to Twelve Than Ordinary Kind.

Girls of ten to twelve years of age often object strongly to wearing pinafores, especially white ones, though there are many occasions on which it is necessary to protect a dress; now, if such a pinafore as this is made in some pretty fancy cotton, trimmed with a scalloped border of plain, it will no doubt find more favor than one of an ordinary kind. It is cut in one piece and fastens at back. Material required: Two yards 36 inches wide; 1/4 yard plain material 28 inches wide.

SUMMER WORK FOR GIRLS

An Absorbingly Interesting Kind is the Very Fashionable Bead Bag.

If any girl wants to undertake some rather elaborate but beautiful summer work, an absorbingly interesting kind is the very fashionable bead bag, also purses and card cases of the same kind. Of course most people who have these charming things buy them and think it would be far too much work for a clever girl, nor is it too difficult. Even the inoperative "sporty" girl takes a rest now and then from active amusements, and if she once learns to do this bead work she will become more and more fascinated by it. She need only give her formerly idle hours on the porch to it, and before long she will have a beautiful bag or purse.

It is necessary to take a few lessons if one has never done any of the work, but the fancy work shops that sell the materials give the lessons, too. Some of the designs used are most artistic, some are quaint and suggestive of the days of our grandmothers. One can choose between flowers and more formal and conventional designs and between those that match certain gowns and those that are neutral enough to go well with several.

Newer than the bags (but no more attractive) are the flat card cases covered entirely with bead designs. The girl who makes one of these during the summer has a most beautiful Christmas gift ready for her mother or older sister.

BATHING SUITS OF MOHAIR

Most Practical of All Material, Being Light in Weight and Very Durable.

Such a loon is one's own bathing suit. First of all it really fits, and this is a point no woman will ever overlook. And next it is so much more sanitary and hygienic than a woman is certainly repaid for her trouble in getting it.

So, if you are going where there is bathing, try to take your own suit.

For this purpose there is no material more practical than mohair. It is so light in weight, so durable and strong water so quickly and readily that there is no other fabric which quite equals it.

Black is the most preferred color, but blue or brown are serviceable and attractive.

And for this very purpose there are many grades in good widths at 50 cents, 75 cents a yard and upwards, in all the good shops.

Evening Flowers.

The fact that this is to be a great flower year is foreshadowed not only by the embroideries that decorate the dresses but by the artificial blossoms that adorn so many of the trains, among them carnations, sweet peas, water lilies, geraniums and myriads of roses.

The new way with embroidered flowers is to cut the petals out of silk, satin, and velvet and fix them against the train, leaving some to fall outward so that they look as if they were natural blossoms. The padded flower is also very much seen, and is employed for the embellishment of panels.

It is the opinion of the women of today that the large and heavy bouquet not only accommodates its owner but hides her lack.

WAYS OF FASTENING FICHU

Dame Fashion Allows Wide Choice in the Matter—Many Pretty Ideas.

The favorite fichu can be fastened in as many ways as there are days in the week.

It can be short and crossed at the front under the girdle, or fastened by a pin in the center of the girdle. Then the longer shape can be tied around the waist and finished in a short butterfly bow made of the ends.

Long ends hanging from short loops is another disposition of the fichu. These can be arranged in two strips or one over the other down the center of the back panel.

Some fichus of fine lace or tulle are arranged with very long ends at the back that sweep down into a court train.

At the back there can be used a buckle of roses or silk in any of the various forms that can be made at home.

The long, oval form of lace, dotted with tiny silk roses and arranged across the back, is a chic finish, especially if the lace or net fichu be over a flowered orrandeau.

Jewels or beads or other decorations used on silk, if the fichu be edged with platings of silk.

The black net fichu can be caught at the front and the back under a velvet girdle. A girdle of rames or a cord is but another way of making the fichu an integral part of a costume.

The fichu is an important feature this summer. The fastening of it will do much to make or mar the appearance on the gown.

FOR BRIDE'S COIFFURE

Green leaves form the foundation of this pretty hair wreath for a bride's coiffure, between which the orange blossoms are daintily arranged.

The second illustration, showing a pretty lace cap of semi-Dutch persuasion is fashioned on fine silk-covered wire, lined with chiffon; a string of large pearl beads is drawn loosely round, ending in a large cabochon of pearl heads, which fastens the graceful plume at left side, the stem of which is also ornamented with graduated pearl beads.

DESK FITTINGS OF CRETONNE

Pretty Idea for Girls' Room is to Match Accessories With the Furnishings.

For a girl's room that is furnished with one of the lovely flowered cretonnes or chintzes it is a pretty idea to have her desk fittings in the same material. And she can make them all herself, which is an added pleasure to most girls when they are fitting up a room. First there is the large blotter. This is made by cutting a piece of heavy cardboard just the size she wants and covering it smoothly with the cretonne. The best way to cover it is to cut the cretonne a little larger than the cardboard and turn it over the edge of the board and glue it firmly all along the edge. The corners must be mitered so that they just fit.

Over the edge of the covering is glued a gimpy to finish it. At each corner fasten a little triangle of the cretonne, folded on the diagonal side, to hold the corners of the blotting paper. These extra pieces are put on before the gimpy. Or, instead of the cretonne corners a strip of the gimpy may be fastened across each corner and the blotting paper slipped under.

The next thing to make is a rack for paper and envelopes. For this buy the cheapest wooden rack to be found (unless you happen to have a brother who can make one for you) and glue the cretonne all over it, finishing it with the gimpy. A tray for pens and pencils can be made to match by using the cover of a long, narrow box as a foundation and covering it with the material in the same way. The ideal may be carried out in any other things used on a desk, as a stamp box or a box for rubber bands.

Hooks on Skirtband.

One would think everyone would know that the best way to keep a blouse and skirt together is not to use safety pins, but to sew hooks in the skirt and eyes to correspond on the back of the waistband of the blouse; and yet, judging by all the specimens of waist and skirt divorce and complete separation that we see, there are still many to whom that knowledge is lacking. It might be well to say, in addition, that if the blouse be too delicate in fabric to stand the strain, a bit of tape should be sewed to its back, on which the eyes can be fastened.
